

Dear Coaches,

Thank you for taking the time to coach your Scavenger Hunt students.

I want to emphasize that I expect, and enjoy, calls from the students. For students, part of the Scavenger Hunt experience is to learn to speak with people to get information. I won't give away any answers, but in some instances I can be helpful in working with students to organize their research and to analyze their results.

From when the questions go out to the time of submission, please do not hesitate to have students call me. I have occasionally received calls after school hours. I do not have a problem with speaking with kids into the evening.

Remember, I do not answer emails or texts, but I will do my best to promptly return phone calls. Make sure your students leave a call back number and a name.

Jim
